Free Weekend Parking!!

Stamford Vision has been working hard on proposals to assist Stamford's visitors with parking during the works on Wharf Road from 10 April to September 2007.

At the recent Board Meeting it was agreed that the New College Stamford car park would be made available free of charge to visitors and residents of Stamford.

Miles Dibsdall, Principal of New College Stamford said "We have 500 free spaces each weekend and it makes sense to offer them during this difficult time".

Jenny Fitzpatrick of the newly formed Stamford Traders Association agreed "This is good news for businesses in Stamford, our customers have complained of the potential lack of car parking spaces during works, now we can offer them a free parking option".

South Kesteven District Council will provide clear signage and directions to assist visitors to access car parks during the works.
